

FREE
&
open to public

How Insects Make the World Go Around

Michale Raupp provides his views on how bugs make the world go around. He will discuss the important roles insects play as they provide critical ecosystem services such as pollination, decomposition, and biological control. Learn what you can do to increase the fun and benefits of insects in your landscape.

Speaker: Michael J. Raupp

(Department of Entomology, University of Maryland, College Park, MD)

Date: Saturday, October 16, 2010

Time: 1:00 pm

Location: The Naturalist Center

(741 Miller Drive, SE, Suite, G2, Leesburg, VA 20175)

Telephone: 703-779-9712, 800-729-7725

(For visitors 10 years of age and older)

Smithsonian
National Museum of Natural History

LECTURE