

Latin American Studies at George
Mason University presents:

El Salvador Today: 20 Years After the Peace

A celebration and discussion of the legacy of the Salvadoran Peace Accords

Featuring:

Keynote speaker - His Excellency Francisco Altschul, Ambassador of El Salvador to the United States

Tuesday, February 28, 2012 4:30-7:00 pm – Johnson Center Cinema

Followed by a Panel Discussion

Terry Lynn Karl - Gildred Professor of Political Science and Latin American Studies at Stanford University.

Geoff Thale - Program Director at the Washington Office on Latin America (WOLA).

Noah Bullock - Executive Director of Foundation Cristosal, El Salvador.

Reception to follow

LAS will also be showing Voces Inocentes (Innocent Voices)—a film depicting the impact of the civil war on the youth of El Salvador—on February 21, 2012 at 4:30PM in Research I Room 163

This event presented with support from the Center for Global Studies, the School of Conflict Analysis and Resolution, and Global Interdisciplinary Programs | For information on this event, contact LAS Director Professor Jo-Marie Burt: jmburt@gmu.edu

On January 19 1992, the government of El Salvador signed a UN-brokered peace agreement with the Farabundo Marti Movement for National Liberation (FMLN), ending a bloody 12-year civil war. To celebrate the 20th anniversary of the signing of peace accords—considered a model of conflict resolution around the world—the Latin American Studies Program at George Mason University has convened a panel of experts to discuss the legacy of this historic moment and assess progress and challenges in El Salvador today.

LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES

4400 University Drive, MS 3F4, Fairfax, Virginia 22030 | Phone: 703-993-1413 | <http://las.gmu.edu/>