

UNIVERSITÀ
CATTOLICA
del Sacro Cuore

BIOL 575: Translational Molecular Research

Location: Rome, Italy

June 20-25, 2016

Course Directors: Lance Liotta, MD, PhD (George Mason University), Ruggero De Maria, MD, PhD (Università Cattolica, del Sacro Cuore), and Orazio Schillaci, MD, PhD (University of Rome Tor Vergata)

- Earn 3 graduate credits in 1 week
- Prepare for the upcoming revolution in molecular medicine
- Interact with world-renowned scientists from Italy and the USA
- Keep-up with the incredible pace of new biomedical technology innovations, scientific advances, and clinical trials.
- Seminars from more than 15 different scientists and medical doctors
- Hands-on workshops with cutting-edge technology
- Faculty-student networking dinner and guided tour of Rome

Course fee: $3,280.00 which includes tuition, lodging, breakfast, and one networking dinner. Fee does not include airfare.

Enrollment Deadline: April 1, 2016

Couse Enrollment Contact:

Greg Justice

703-993-1740

gjustice@gmu.edu

Course Content Contact:

Amy Adams

703-993-2672

avanmete@gmu.edu