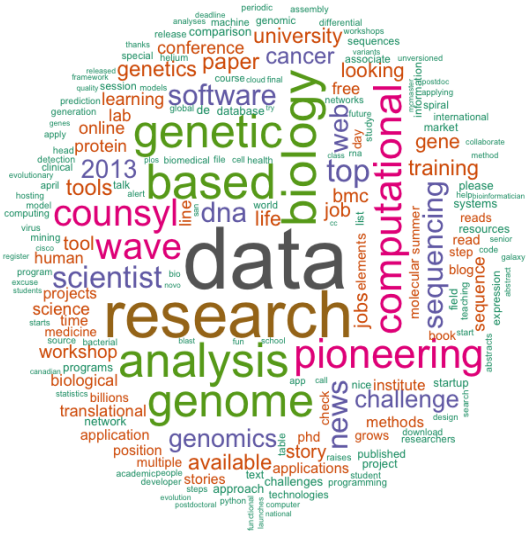
Bioinformatics & Computational Biology Candidate Seminar

Monday April 17, 2017



Dr. Leili Shahriyari

Ph.D. Mathematics, M.S.E. Computer Science
Johns Hopkins University
M.S. Mathematics, Sharif University of Technology

Current Position: Postdoctoral Fellow, Mathematical Biosciences Institute, The Ohio State University

Candidate for the position of Assistant Professor, Bioinformatics & Computational Biology in the School of Systems Biology

Seminar 4:00 pm-5:00 pm

Grad student meetings 5:00 pm-6:00 pm

Colgan Hall 203

Seminar Title: "A new perspective on cancer: Stochastic modeling of cell dynamics after conventional treatments".

All are invited to attend

School of Systems Biology

Colgan Hall Rm 312
10900 University Blvd., Manassas VA 20110
http://ssb.gmu.edu