

SPEED MENTORING

Hosted by the INSA Intelligence Champions Council

Tuesday, April 3, 2018 | 5:30-9:00 pm | INSA Conference Center, Arlington, VA

Join the Intelligence and National Security Alliance (INSA) Intelligence Champions Council for its sixth annual Speed Mentoring event. Attendees will broaden their professional network, meet with mid- and senior-level leaders from the public and private sectors, and gain insight into pursuing a career in U.S. intelligence and national security.

The event will open with a keynote address by Dr. Jason Matheny, Director of IARPA, followed by a series of mentorship rounds. In a small-group setting, mentors from government, industry, and academia discuss their unique careers paths, share advice, and address mentees' questions.

Mentees include undergraduate and graduate students seeking to understand how to break into the intelligence field, early- and mid-career professionals seeking a career change, and other intelligence professionals interested in building connections across the community. Visit www.INSAonline.org for information about this year's keynote and mentors.

Mentors in past years have come from the following organizations:

Defense Intelligence Agency
Department of Defense
National Security Agency
