Fall 2020 Crisis Simulation:

Managing Escalation: NATO, Russia, and a Political-Military Crisis in the Baltic States

Part 1: November 13, 2020 | 4:00 PM to 6:00 PM

Part 2: November 14, 2020 | 9:00 AM to 1:30 PM

Location: Virtual (via Zoom)

With the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's role in the world under pressure in recent days, have you wondered how it would respond in a crisis situation? Join the Center for Security and Policy Studies (CSPS) for its Fall 2020 Crisis Simulation and put yourself in the driver's seat as you help manage an escalating crisis involving NATO members. During Part 1, participants will observe a briefing on the crisis situation, receive an assignment to one of the country teams, and then establish specific objectives and a strategic approach with your country team. During Part 2, country teams will interact in three adjudicated rounds to attempt to de-escalate the crisis through diplomacy or military force.

Space is extremely LIMITED and will be capped at 45 participants, so register as soon as possible to ensure a seat at the table. The final day to register for the event is November 10.

PLEASE READ – ELIGIBILITY RESTRICTIONS: To participate in this event you MUST be a George Mason University student. If you register for this event using any e-mail domain other than gmU.edu (or masonlive.gmu.edu), your order will be cancelled, and you will lose your reservation.
