

Fellowships and Career Development Opportunities for the Social and Behavioral Sciences

March 25, 2021, 10:00am-11:30am Location: Zoom

Learn about various fellowships and career development opportunities for the social and behavioral sciences, as well as best practices for competing for these opportunities.

Representatives from NIH, NSF, and LoC will discuss fellowships and career development opportunities offered by their organizations as well as best practices for competing these opportunities; and a CHSS faculty member will discuss her experiences competing for these types of awards.
