

Rocky Mountain Interdisciplinary History Conference

23rd Anniversary

September 16 -18, 2022

Call for Papers

Submission Deadline: Friday May 13th 2022

The graduate students of the History Department at the University of Colorado Boulder are pleased to announce the twenty-third annual Rocky Mountain Interdisciplinary History Conference.

This academic conference provides an opportunity for students to present papers, gain experience in public speaking, and attend multiple professional development panels. First-time presenters are especially encouraged to participate.

Due to the ongoing pandemic, this year's conference will be entirely virtual, and will be based around the themes of Invisible Pasts, Potential Futures: History, Memory, and Possibility.

Please apply online at: <https://forms.gle/AkNX53FTXyPBEenXA>

Complete the submission form and upload a one-page abstract of the paper and a current CV (all files should be uploaded in .pdf). The abstract should clearly express an original argument rooted in extensive primary source research.

Papers that address these themes might include, but are not limited to, political, social, and cultural memory, historical oppression and subaltern studies, resistance, and contingency.

We welcome submissions with a historical element from graduate students working in any discipline. Exceptional undergraduate papers will be considered. Past participants have come from fields as diverse as history, political science, economics, cultural studies, philosophy, comparative literature, film, art history, religious studies, anthropology, women and gender studies, geography, ethnic studies, and theater.

PRESENTATION DETAILS

Every paper will receive commentary by another graduate student, and a faculty member will moderate each panel session. Presentations will be followed by a question and answer session.

PRESENTATION REQUIREMENTS

Presentations will be strictly limited to 15 minutes, thus papers should be 8 pages in length, not including endnotes and bibliography.

There will be a small monetary award for the best conference paper.

PUBLISHING WORKSHOP

“From Print to Press”

Discussion and Q&A Session with publishers and editors from UC Press and UW Press
